

THE ADORNMENT OF THE MIDDLE WAY
Shantarakshita's *Madhyamakalankara
With commentary by Jamgon Mipham
A TEXTUAL OUTLINE OF THE COMMENTARY
COURSE TWO CLASSES

Class Three: Verses 35-40

14. A refutation of the non-Buddhist schools 217

- 15. A general refutation (stanza 35) 217
- 15. Specific refutations of the different systems 220
  - 16. A refutation of the Jain and Mimamsaka views (stanza 36) 220
  - 16. A refutation of the Charvaka view (stanza 37) 224
  - 16. A demonstration that it is impossible for consciousness to be one and truly existent, as the Samkhya system affirms 225
    - 17. The refutation (stanza 38) 225
    - 17. A refutation of the Samkhya reply to our objection (stanza 39) 227
  - 16. A refutation of the Vedanta system (stanza 40) 228

Class Four: Verses 41-51

13. General conclusion 234

- 14. A refutation of the view that there are outer objects that are truly existent, single entities (stanza 41) 234
- 14. A refutation of consciousness as truly existent and one (stanza 42) 235
- 14. Concluding reflection on the previous two topics (stanza 43) 235

12. A refutation of the Chittamatra system, which denies the existence of extramental objects 236

- 13. The Chittamatra position (stanza 44) 236
- 13. An examination of the Chittamatra tenet 239
  - 14. A consideration of its strengths and weaknesses (stanza 45) 239
  - 14. A refutation of the true existence of consciousness, the weak point of this tenet system 240
- 15. A refutation of the True Aspectarians 240
  - 16. A refutation of the split-eggist system 240
    - 17. A demonstration that such a position is inherently contradictory (stanza 46) 240
    - 17. The Chittamatrins are unable to circumvent this contradiction 241
    - 18. The unwanted consequence (stanza 47) 241
    - 18. The same unwanted consequence in the theory of the proponents of aspects who assert the existence of outer objects (stanza 48) 242
  - 16. The refutation of the system of perceptual parity (stanza 49) 243

16. A refutation of the system of perceptual imparity 245

- 17. The refutation itself (stanza 50) 245
- 17. Demonstrating the validity of the refutation (stanza 51) 246

Class Five: Verses 52-62

15. A refutation of the False Aspectarians 246

- 16. A presentation of their view (stanza 52) 246
- 16. A refutation of their theory 247
- 17. A brief demonstration (stanza 53) 247
- 17. A detailed exposition of the refutation 250
- 18. It is inadmissible to say that the aspects are nonexistent 250
- 19. This is so when one reflects about the manner in which the object is cognized 250
- 20. A general demonstration (stanza 54) 250
- 20. A specific demonstration 250
- 21. Unmediated cognition is untenable (stanza 55) 250
- 21. Cognition by means of representations or aspects is also untenable (stanza 56) 251
- 19. An examination of the relation between consciousness and its object shows that denial of the aspects is untenable (stanza 57) 252
- 19. An examination of causes shows that denial of the aspects is untenable (stanza 58) 254
- 18. A demonstration that the apprehending aspect standing on its own is untenable (stanza 59) 255
- 17. A refutation of the Chittamatra replies to this objection (stanza 60) 256

8. Establishing the absence of many truly existent entities (stanza 61) 261

7. Establishing the pervasion (stanza 62) 263

Class Six: Verses 63-64

5. A demonstration that things exist on the relative level 265

- 6. Identification of the relative as mere appearance, empty of true existence (stanza 63) 265
- 6. Discerning the nature of the relative truth 268
- 7. Mere appearances exist incontrovertibly 268
- 8. The manner in which they appear (stanza 64) 268

Class Seven: Verses 65-70a

- 8. An explanation of the cause of mere appearance (stanza 65) 285
- 7. A conclusive demonstration that the ground of appearance is itself empty of true existence (stanza 66) 291

- 4. Answers to objections made to this distinction of the two truths 293
- 5. A brief demonstration that no faults are incurred 293
  - 6. Our reasoning is able to vanquish all opposition (stanza 67) 293
  - 6. This approach is completely unassailable (stanza 68) 293
- 5. A detailed explanation 294
  - 6. Elimination of objections concerning the ultimate truth 294
  - 7. The ultimate truth beyond conceptual constructs is free from all assertions 294
  - 8. An explanation of the approximate ultimate together with its assertions 294
    - 9. Establishing the approximate ultimate by means of reasoning and scripture (stanza 69) 294
    - 9. The meaning of the expression "approximate ultimate" (stanza 70a) 296

Class Eight: Verses 70b-74

- 8. An explanation of the actual ultimate, free from all assertions 297
  - 9. A brief explanation (stanza 70b) 297
  - 9. A detailed explanation of the actual ultimate 298
    - 10. The ultimate truth is the object of neither thought nor word (stanzas 71, 72a) 298
    - 10. Words and concepts lie within the scope of the relative truth (stanza 72b) 311
- 7. Answers to objections 312
  - 8. If phenomena are empty of inherent existence, this ought to be evident to everyone 312
    - 9. The objection (stanza 73) 312
    - 9. A reply to the objection (stanza 74) 313

Class Nine: Verses 75-78

- 8. A reply to the second objection (if the emptiness of phenomena is not apparent, it is perceptible to no one and the reasoning given is consequently pointless) (stanza 75) 314
- 8. A reply to the third objection (since the three conditions of correct evidence cannot be established in the case of phenomena that are without inherent existence, it is impossible to speak in terms of predicate and reason) 326
  - 9. The reply (stanzas 76, 77a) 326
  - 9. Any position other than the one just stated is untenable (stanza 77b) 328
- 6. Dealing with the objections about the relative truth 328
  - 7. It is generally acceptable to speak of proof and predicate to be proved (stanza 78) 328

Class Ten: Verses 79-83

- 7. A specific explanation of how the causal interdependence of past and future lives is acceptable 331

- 8. A brief presentation of the proposition (stanza 79) 331
- 8. A detailed presentation using rational argument 332
- 9. A refutation of the incorrect position (stanzas 80, 81a) 332
- 9. A valid proof of past and future lives (stanza 81b) 333
- 7. A concluding eulogy of this teaching, which avoids the views of eternalism and nihilism (stanza 82) 335
- 4. The benefits of understanding the two truths correctly 337
- 5. The benefits of understanding the absence of inherent existence on the ultimate level (stanza 83) 337

Class Eleven: Verses 84-97

- 5. The benefits of holding that the relative corresponds to what appears as causally effective (stanza 84) 355
- 5. The benefits of habituation to the union of the relative and the ultimate 357
- 6. A brief explanation of how pure accumulations will occur (stanza 85) 357
- 6. A detailed explanation 358
- 7. A general example showing that in the event of a cause, an effect will follow, whereas there will be no effect when there is no cause (stanzas 86, 87) 358
- 7. A specific explanation of the principle of cause and effect within the context of pure and impure views (stanzas 88, 89, 90) 359
- 3. The conclusion: a eulogy of this approach to the two truths 361
- 4. An outline of the tradition in which the Chittamatra and Madhyamaka approaches are combined 361
- 5. An outline of the abiding mode of the conventional truth (stanza 91) 361
- 5. An outline of the path that combines the two approaches (stanza 92) 362
- 4. In praise of this path 363
- 5. A brief presentation (stanza 93) 363
- 5. A detailed explanation of the praise of the path, which unites the two approaches 366
- 6. The extraordinary qualities of the path (stanzas 94, 95) 366
- 6. This path is the source of other good qualities 372
- 7. Compassion for all beings (stanza 96) 372
- 7. Devotion and respect for the Teacher (stanza 97) 374
- 2. The conclusion 377
- 3. The author's colophon 377
- 3. The colophon of the translators 377
- 1. The necessity for the explanation of the root verses 378
- 3. Colophon of Mipham Rinpoche 381
