LOGICAL REASONING [DETAIL]

INCLUSIVE

EXCLUSIVE

IDENTICAL

OVERLAPPING

INCLUSIVE, Subset, "One set of phenomena includes the other set."

Possibilities:

1. Both A and B.
2. A but not B.
3. Neither B nor A.

IDENTICAL / synonymous / equivalent.

Possibilities:

1. A and B.
2. Neither A nor B.

OPPOSITE / Contradictory / mutual exclusion.

Possibilities:

1. A not B.
2. B not A.
3. Neither A nor B.

OVERLAP, "Two overlapping sets of phenomena"

Possibilities:

1. Both A and B.
2. A but not B.
3. B but not A.
4. Neither A nor B.

SUBJECT

PREDICATE

REASON

EXAMPLE

"Think how all phenomena operate and are 'created' within a syllogism such as:
[Subject] is [Predicate] because of it is [Reason.]

CONCEPTUALITY

THREE MODES OR REQUIREMENTS OF VALID INFERENCE

1. SUBJECT QUALITY:

"All A has, or is, X"

"The REASON (X) applies to the SUBJECT (A)."

"There is smoke on that mountain."

"Sound is produced."

2. FORWARD PERVASION or inclusion:

"X is only or is had only by B."

"All instances of the reason (x) apply only to instances of the predicate (b.)"

"There is smoke only where there is fire."

"What is produced is impermanent".)

3. REVERSE PERVASION or inclusion:

"Absence of B has or is absence of X."

"All instances of the lack of the predicate apply to lack of the reason."

"Where there is no fire, there is no smoke."

"What is permanent is not produced."

"SUBJECTS,
KNOWERS, TYPES OF COGNITION

METHODS THAT LEAD TO COGNITION

"What are incompatible phenomena to this phenomenon?" CONTRADICTIONARY PHENOMENA	Example: Light and darkness (direct) or intense smoke and sensation of cold (indirect.)
"What generalites appear that are phenomenon's opposite or something that includes its opposite?" NEGATION	Example: the reverse of non-cow, the idea of a cow. Implicative: phenomena implied after negation. Non-implicative: no remaining phenomena implied.
"What is directly cognized here, i.e. where a negation is not being 'used', or excluded, by the mind?" CONCRETE PHENOMENA	APPEARANCE AND ELIMINATION Example: a vase or pillar. How does phenomenon appear, by inclusion in environment (appearing) or by excluding the environment (conceiving of it)
"Does phenomenon have many instances of itself?" GENERALITY	Varities:	"What, if any, other types of this phenomenon exist?" TYPE	"What, if any, superimposed aspects are part of this phenomenon?" OBJECT	"What, if any, collections are comprised of this phenomenon?" COLLECTION	"What, if any, other terms of expression exist for this phenomenon?" TERM
"Is phenomenon included in something that includes it (i.e. the 'this environment'), identical with, and yet not the only one of this phenomenon?" PARTICULAR	Example: the white dog (among the other dogs.)
"What other, if any, phenomena don't appear as different (i.e., they are 'one') for your conception as this phenomenon?" PHENOMENA THAT ARE ONE	One in Type: dogs One in Isolate: two dogs named "Snowy The Dog" One in Substance: flesh, fur and bones. One in Entity: dog ("they both bark, have fur, are terriers, etc."),
"What other, if any, phenomena are distinct from this phenomena?" PHENOMENA THAT ARE DIFFERENT	Different in Isolate: "Snowy" and "Fred" Different in Substance: form and consciousness. Different in Entity: the idea of "cat" and a cat
"What is the phenomenon's 'essential nature', i.e. the cause for your assigning it the correct definition?" DEFINITION	MEANING Example: Dog or Snowy. Meaning is complete when phenomenon is defined. Definition and object-isolate (word describing phenomenon) are equivalent.
"What is the particular name for the definition of the phenomenon?" DEFINIENDUM	Three Properties of conventional term are set when Definiendum is assigned. Definiendum and self-isolate are equivalent. Example: "...a domesticated carnivorous mammal that typically has a long snout..."
"What is the basis apprehended by the mind for establishing the connection between definition and definiendum?" BASIS FOR DEFINITION	Basis for definition and basis-isolate are equivalent THE basis connects the definition and the definiendum Example: "Snowy" that dog sleeping over there.

ANALYSIS OF THE SELF OR PERSON

INVESTIGATING:
FOCUSING ON THEIR MODE OF BEING

ABSENCE OF SELF OF PERSONS

SEEMING CHARACTERISTICS OF PERSONAL SELF

"How does your self or ego seem to exist as singular? How does it really exist?"
SINGLE OR UNITARY

"How does your self seem to exist as continuous? How does it really exist?"
CONTINUOUS OR PERMANENT

"How does your self seem to exist as independent? How does it really exist?"
AUTONOMOUS OR INDEPENDENT

PERSONAL SELF IN RELATION TO THE THREE REALMS

"Where is the Self within the Five Heaps?"
5 HEAPS
Form,
Feeling, Perception,
Formations,
Consciousness

"Where is the Self within the Twelve Ayatanas?"
12 FORM SOURCES:
6 Objects,
6 Faculties

"Where is the Self within the Eighteen Dhatus?"
18 FORM CONSTITUENTS:
6 Objects,
6 Faculties,
6 Consciousnesses

RESULTING REALIZATION: THE THREE MARKS OF EXISTENCE

"The experiences and phenomena of Self are not satisfying."
DISSATISFYING

"The experiences etc. of Self are not permanent."
IMPERMANENT

"The experiences etc. of Self are empty, don't really exist."
SELFLESS

1. The phenomenon (or its self or essence) is not considered to be other than its parts (i.e. it is composed of its parts and without its parts it would not be itself.)
SELF IS NOT OTHER THAN ITS PARTS

2. Yet the self is not identical with its parts.
Example: My self not my head, arms, torso, consciousness etc.
SELF IS NOT IDENTICAL WITH PARTS

3. And the self does not possess its parts.
Example: My self or essence does not possess a head, arms, brain etc.
SELF DOES NOT POSSESS ITS PARTS

4. The self is not within its parts.
Example: My self does not exist somewhere within my head, arms, legs, mind etc.
SELF IS NOT WITHIN ITS PARTS

5. The parts of the phenomenon are not within the self or essence of the phenomenon.
Example: My legs, brain, head etc. are not in my self.
PARTS OF SELF ARE NOT WITHIN SELF

6. The self is not the mere assembly of its parts. Example: An assembly of head, torso, legs etc. does not make my self.
SELF IS NOT MERE ASSEMBLY OF ITS PARTS.

7. The self is not the overall shape of its parts. Example: The shape of a human (head, arms, consciousness.) does not make a self.
SELF IS NOT OVERALL SHAPE OF ITS PARTS
